Wishes to sell a picture
from Dusseldorf. —

and the whole thing has always been exceedingly admired. My husband paid a little less than $800. gold for it. It hangs in the parlor of a house No 21 Pierrepont St. Brooklyn. My husband's address is No 1 Wall St. N. Y. where he would be happy to hear from you. I shall be till Monday night at the Sweetser House on 4½ St. between Penn. Ave. & C. St. where I should be happy to give you any information in my power.

Yours Respectfully

Sir:

I have a fine picture purchased from the Dusseldorf Collection nine or ten years ago which I wish to sell. While I was in your Gallery to-day it occurred to me that you the "Splendid but perverted" Duke, immediate restoration of all cattle driven away by his lordship's soldiers. I cannot give you the dimensions of the canvass, but the picture frame covers the width of a large mantel piece, & contains at least a dozen figures, & I believe, more. The Duke's attitude is careless – his expression, admiring.

I might like to add it to your fine collection. The subject is "The Splendid & Redoubtable Duke of Alba or Alva." and you may remember the very spirited & admirable figure of the Netherland Countess at the [illegible] – at the [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] – demands of

Sir

Last year I received from W Corcoran the hint to direct myself to you, with regard to the sale of my pictures, for which reason I herewith take the liberty to accompany the present with a Catalog, informing you that those marked with red ink are: Originals and that those marked with several crosses are of the most distinguished authors, while giving at the same time the Epoc when they were finished

The pictures mostly derive of former collections of rich clergymen or private people, and at the same time count among them many a one ordered by the late Emperor Maximiliano, but which arrived too late to be seen by him.

Mexico is not the place to sell pictures of merit even if the Academy of this Capital would wish to acquire my collection, on the ground of finding itself, like every body else in a state of failure

I am sorry to learn that pictures pay in the U. S their duties of importation on value, nevertheless I think that the value of pictures might be considered as that of any other merchandize. besides being for a Museum, he got through free of duties

My pictures are good and one third of them classic specimens and splendid, but I desire to leave this country the reason why I wish to sell them, and in case the trustees of your Museum think to buy the same

Un tableau de Zurbaran.

Un allemand, grand amateur de tout ce qui porte le cachet du génie, surtout en matière de peinture, a réuni, pendant le temps assez long de sa résidence dans la République, une collection considérable de tableaux de maitres. Dernièrement il a eu l'insigne bonheur de joindre à ses trésors artistiques une magnifique toile portant la signature authentique de Zurbaran, le Carravagge espagnol.

Nous le félicitons sincèrement de cette précieuse trouvaille.

To the Trustees of the Art Gallery founded by W. W. Corcoran Esq^r.

The undersigned, having heard that the Art Gallery of which you are the Trustees, will be opened to the public in the course of a few months, very respectfully petitions that the opening exercises may consist, in part, of a Grand Concert, to be given by the best Musical associations of Washington; and that admission fees be charged for attending the Exercises, to be appropriated towards the building of the Episcopal Memorial Church on Capitol Hill, that Church assuming all the labor and expense involved in this feature of the ceremonies.

Your petitioner represents, that a Concert of the highest order will be a fit accompaniment of the opening of a Gallery "dedicated to Art"!

that by the means proposed you will promote the most commendable of all interests - those of a Christian Church in great need of present assistance, but having the prospect of unusual success & usefulness; that no objection can arise against the proposed plan on the ground that other Churches may ask similar favors in the future, for the reason that there can be but one "opening" and that, after the Gallery is once occupied and shall constantly be receiving works of art, none will think it reasonable to ask such a favor; and finally that the use to which the proceeds will be devoted may, or may not, be publicly announced, according to your judgment.

Respectfully subscribed,
Mary D. Beale.

Gentn

We beg to inform You that there is in this City in the possession of one of the Sons of the late well-known Dr John W. Francis of New York an original Holbein which we are Commissioned to Sell. The Canvas measures 20×14, and the subject is a Knight of the Golden Fleece of high degree, wearing the Chain and order of the Golden Fleece around his neck. On the back of the Canvas is painted the following — "Portrait of Francis de Meudon, Conte D'Espinoise, deceased in 1547, by Holbein" The face is a most striking one, the left hand is raised having a ring on the fore finger, and the right hand is in repose resting against the Creditors.

The same gentleman has an original portrait of Robert Fulton 40x29. representing the great inventor as he appears in the engraving of this portrait found in vol 2d of Appleton's Dictionary of Mechanics, edition of 1868 and perhaps in other edit. also. Torpedo boat in the distance, &c.

Photographs of these valuable paintings would be sent to you, if desired, or they will be shown to any person whom you appoint to examine them. No doubt is entertained by the owner of their originality, and we may mention that the Historical Society of New York, which Dr Francis was a member, eagerly desires to obtain the portrait of Fulton.

Should you desire to investigate this matter we will thank you for an early reply.

Sir:-

It has been suggested to me that you might desire to possess the only portrait of life-size of General R. E. Lee. It was painted by Mr. Bruce of Winchester, Virginia, an amateur Artist, and the likeness is grandly superb. It was sold to Mr. Helmbold of this City for $1000.-, without being seen, and when delivered, was declined because its large size made it unsuitable for his parlor.

The enclosed printed slip will acquaint you with the particulars of this picture.

As for myself, I refer you to Professor Henry, an old friend of many years standing.

Be pleased to reply and direct to the care of this house.

Respectfully, Yours,

L. P. Bayne & Co

IMPERIAL PHOTOGRAPHS

(8x12 Inches,)

OF THE

Full Length Life-Size Portrait

GEN. ROBERT E. LEE,

Painted by E. C. BRUCE, at Richmond, Autumn and Winter 1864-5.

In the Senate of Virginia, Friday, January 6th, 1865, "Mr. Cox, of Westmoreland, offered a resolution that a committee of five members from the House and three from the Senate be appointed to call on Mr. E. C. BRUCE, artist of this city, with a view of ascertaining whether the life-size portrait of General R. E. LEE, now being completed by him, can be purchased for the State of Virginia, at what price, and report the same to the General Assembly." Adopted.

The joint committee unanimously reported to the House a bill for its purchase; which passed, but not by the constitutional majority, was reconsidered and so remained at the time of the evacuation. Meanwhile, the picture, at the request of members, was placed for a week or two in the Hall of the House. "Thousands of Lee's soldiers saw it there, many of them testifying by the most enthusiastic exclamations their appreciation of the likeness."

The Richmond Examiner, of January 19th, 1865, said: "It has been pronounced by connoisseurs and judges the best and most life-like that art has yet produced, or likely to be produced cotemporary with the original." The Enquirer, of February 2d, 1865, declared: "The head is unquestionably a splendid triumph." The General's staff and family concur in thinking it the best likeness taken of him—"better than any of the photographs" from life. The ascessories—sword, uniform, horse, courier, captured gun, &c., are all authentic. The time, place and circumstances of its execution must render this portrait unique.

The painting was exhibited, in the autumn of 1865, in New York and Montreal, and was well received by the press of both cities. Among other notices, the N. Y. Journal of Commerce says: "The likeness is said to be faithful and striking, and the painting itself, which is warmly colored, is executed in a masterly manner." The Metropolitan Record pronounced it "as a work of art one of the finest ever exhibited in this city."

The Montreal Gazette says: "It gives one a vivid impression of the actual presence of this eminent man. The features remind one of the photographs, only these fail to convey the force of the painting." The Evening Telegraph of the same city "can only speak of it as a work of art, and say that it is beautifully and softly painted. * * * The great Confederate leader is represented on the field after a victory, leaning on a captured gun, with his horse and courier in the background. * * * The execution of the work carries the conviction that it is a characteristic portrait."

The photographs now offered have lately been taken from the original picture, and are thought as exact as it was practicable to make them.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR.
